MONTANA.

Office of State Examiner.

Hon. Edwin L. Norris,
Governor of Montana,
Helena, Montana.

Sir:

Pursuant to Section 9, Article XI, Revised Codes of 1907, I submit herewith the Sixteenth Annual Report of State Examiner for the fiscal year ending November 30, 1910.

The first four months of the period were under the supervision of Mr. H. H. Pigott, my predecessor in office.

All state offices have been examined, special reports having been made to the Governor and Attorney General. Each of the twenty-eight counties has been visited, and examinations of each office collecting moneys have been made, and reports made to the County Commissioners and County Attorneys. Each bank incorporated, to date of this report, has been examined.

This has been made possible by the very able assistance of Mr. Thomas S. Smith and Fred E. Hoss, Assistants, Miss Mary A. Stokes, Clerk, and Mr. C. D. Sloan, Deputy.

Owing to the rapid growth of the State generally, the large increase in state and county business, and the number of banks and building and loan institutions, there having been twenty-seven new banks incorporated during the year 1910, and the increase of the volume of business of the formerly incorporated banks, there is urgent necessity of additional help in this department. At least one more Examiner is needed, and an additional Clerk. This office is now self sustaining, and with the reclassification of the counties which will soon be made, and the new banks and building and loan associations which will be authorized during the coming year, there would be no burden on the State, should the needed assistance be allowed. The State will not be called on for any expenditure, as the fees collected for the department will more than pay all salaries and expenses of the Examiner's office, while the examination of state offices, as in the past two years, will be done without any expense to the State.

It would seem proper at this time that there should be some legislation passed, regulating private banks and loan and investment companies, somewhat similar to building and loan associations (but not sufficiently so in the opinion of the Attorney General to be classed as such) doing business in this State under foreign corporation laws. Segregation of savings deposits in banks doing a departmental business should be required, and such departments be regulated by the laws governing the different classes of banking institutions, namely, banks of discount, trust companies and savings banks, and a generally stronger banking act be enacted, prescribing penalties for violation where there now are none.

The business of the banking department has largely increased during the past biennial period, and is bound to steadily increase as the development of the State progresses, so that the office of State Examiner should be segregated, placing the banks and building and loan associations in one department, and the county and state accounting in another, thus enabling closer supervision, with better results in both departments.

Respectfully submitted,

C. E. Kumpe,

State Examiner.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS.

The work of this class of mutual savings society is not appreciated at its full value in this State. There is no corporation that tends to upbuild a city as does a building and loan association, which encourages those of small capital to build and own their own homes, and makes them permanent residents.

Of late, several foreign companies have engaged in the business of soliciting monthly payments, promising loans at a future date. These companies do not come under the supervision of the State Examiner, according to an opinion of the Attorney General. It is evident that the small savings should be as carefully protected as the larger amounts. It is therefore my suggestion that legislative action shall either entirely forbid such companies doing business in this State, or regulate the same in such manner as the regular building and loan associations.
